NUMB. 3248

MONDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1744.

Since our last arrived a Mail from Holland.

Petersburgh, September 19.

E. R. Imperial Majesty made her publick Entry into Kiow on the 9th, and on the 21st she set out for Moscow; so that we apprehend the Court will return hither by the latter End of the Month. It is in a manner certain, that her Majesty will shortly set the Duke of Courland at Liberty, the Chamberlain Baron de Korff being actually gone to Jaroslaw, in order to make some Propositions to that Prince. It is believed that the 12,000 Men granted as Auxiliaries to the Prussian Majesty, will march speedily for Riga. The Baron de Mardefeldt, Minister from his Prussian Majesty, has lately transmitted to Kiow a Memorial, conceiv'd in very strong Terms, in relation to the present State of Affairs in Germany; tending to induce her Imperial Majesty not to interfere with the Affairs of that Part of the World, but to leave the Germans to regulate their Disputes among themselves. We have a Report prevails here, as if the Prince of Brunswick, and the Princess Anne his Consort, would shortly be released, on the Intercession of his Prussian Majesty, and in virtue of an extraordinary Treaty, by which the Possession of the Duchy of Mecklenberg, together with a Part of the Duchy of Holstein, which is to be yielded by his Imperial Highness, are to be given immediately to the Prince and Princess; who, in Consideration thereof, and of a new Jewel of the Imperial Crown, are to renounce their immediate Pretensions to the Empire.

Stockholm, Sept. 18. On Friday last, at Noon, died here, after two Days Illness, Senator Baron Palmfeldt, who, since the Demission of Count Tessin, acted as Vice-President of the Chancery. The Day after this Gentleman's Demission, Count Tessin resumed the Functions of his former Post of Vice-President, without any new Nomination, as the Act of his Demission had not yet passed thro' all the necessary Forms. For the same Reason, he keeps still his Seat in the Senate.

Stockholm, Sept. 21. The Day before Yesterday the Prussian Royal of Sweden gave a grand Entertainment at Urichstall, on Occasion of the taking of Prague by the Prussians.

Copenhagen, October 3. The King and Queen of Denmark, accompanied by the Prince Royal and the Hereditary Princess, being come to Town for a Day or two, in order to take a View of the Wares brought by the last Ship from China, the Council was held, and there was a full Court Yesterday at the Palace of Christiansburg. In the Forenoon Baron Hopken, the new Swedish Minister, had his first Audiences, and presented his Credentials. The Danish Court returns this Evening to Friederichsburg.

Madrid, September 22. The Court has received certain Information, that the Toulon Squadron has actually passed the Straights, and joined that of Brest; and it is likewise reported, that these two Squadrons have so block'd up the Forts of Gibraltar, as to prevent their receiving any Provisions by Sea, while the Count de Roudeville, Governor-General of Andalusia, takes all imaginable Precautions to prevent any Supplies being sent them by Land; whence such a Scarcity has arisen in the Place, that Bread and Beef are at 10 Reals a Pound. These Letters further add, that the Brest Squadron had lately taken nine Transports, laden with Provisions for the Use of that Garrison; and that the Count de Roudeville had hang'd up a Corregidor, and two Officers of Justice, belonging to the Town of de los Barrios, for having sold to the Garrison 200 Sacks of Flour.

Hambourg, October 9. By Letters from Dresden we learn, that 20,000 of the Saxon Troops are actually upon March towards Egra. His Prussian Majesty's Army in Bohemia, according to the Advices which are received from that Quarter, are advancing itself at Tabor, and Prince Charles's having joined General Bathiani at Pilsen; and their Forces being said to amount to 30,000 Men.

Prague, September 26. The King of Prussia's advanced Column of 13,000 Men, is said to be at Sudomirzitz, on the other Side of Tabor, where he is making a great Retrenchment to his Left with self'd Trees. Upon an Alarm in Silesia, from an Appearance of some Troops in Bodies upon the Frontier Mountains, that an Army was entering there from Moravia, the Gates of Neiss have been shut, and the Cannon mounted upon the Works of the new Citadel; but the Vaults of the River are said to have fallen in. General Harfich has not been suffered to enter into Vienna; his having made himself Prisoner of War, hinders his being called to an immediate Account. It is thought that the King of Prussia has not made above 7000 Men Prisoners at Prague, so many of the Militia, who were in Garrison there, have found Means to escape already; and as General Bathiani has 800 Prussian Prisoners, it is hoped that the Waraidners and Grenadiers, who offered to fight their Way through the whole Prussian Army, may be exchanged against them. It is assured, that the Prussians are pillaging every Burgh and Village on the other Side of the Elbe, that are properest for lining that River. On the Side of Hungary, there are already between five and 6000 Horse ready, towards Scalitz; and it is expected, that next Week, they will be increased to between 12 and 15,000. Prince Charles's Army, upon the Junction of the Saxons, will amount to 95,000 Men. The repeated Advices we had of 1300 Prussian Deserters being in Prague, prove without Foundation; for we are since inform'd, that they did not exceed 50 at most.

Vienna, September 27. The greatest Part of the Militia, lately surrendered at Prague, are returned to their Habitations, and 300 Croats have been exchanged. Prince Charles is this Day at Teinitz, and General Bathiani at Rohrtzan. The Saxons are to enter Bohemia the 5th of October. The first Column of Croats, amounting to 2000, designed for Bavaria, passed through this Place Yesterday in Carts; upon their Junction with General Berenclau, his Corps will amount to 28,000 Men. General Roth is sent to defend Ingoldstadt. It is affirmed here, that the Prussian Army in Bohemia does not exceed 60,000 effective Men, and that the Horse is in a bad Condition.

Vienna, September 30. The Prussians were obliged to sit down in Form before Tabor, a Place with a single old Wall: The Austrians, to the Number of five or 600, defended themselves two Days, particularly by two successful Salies, and concealing the Consumption of their Powder by defending a Parley, obtained a Capitulation to retire where they pleased; which they did towards Neuhaufe, where they joined the rest of their Body, to the Number of 4000, under the Command of General Minski. This little Corps, which was at first posted at Krasnahora, has preceded whith'er Way it was supposed the Prussians intended to turn, and has spoiled the Routes, and embarrassed their March as much as possible. It is thought the Prussians will not advance higher than Tabor, unless they see a Probability of being joined by Count Seckendorff at Budweis; at which last Place, it is supposed, the latter has been summoned by the Prussians to join them. Sixty Pieces of the King of Prussia's greatest Artillery are said to be left with 5000 Men at Prague; the rest is with the Army cantoned between Tabor and Pischell. General Bathiani was by the last Advices, near Piseck. The Earl of Holdernels arrived here the Day before Yesterday, and had Yesterday an Audience of the Queen.

Augsbourg, October 2. The Field Marshal Count Seckendorff was joined on the 24th of last Month by 6000 Hessians; upon which, he immediately dispatched 2000 Men to take Possession of Donawert. He is in full march with the rest of his Forces towards Ingoldstadt, in which the Austrians have a Garrison of 7000 Men. His Excellency proposes to block up the Place, till such Time, as by the Reinforcements of his most Christian Majesty, and the Elector Palatine's Troops, he is in a Condition to undertake the Siege in Form. We are assured, that those Reinforcements will consist of 26,000 Men; which is the more probable, since the Magazines that are forming, will suffice that Number of Men at least.

Ingoldstadt, October 1. The Gros of Field Marshal Seckendorff's Troops are already arrived at Hockstead; and their Van Guard, consisting of 6000 Men, under the Command of the Prince of Saxe Heldberghausen, encamped this Morning at Mark Pising. The Chevalier de Belleisle, and the Duke de Boufflers, are in full March for this Country; and we make no Question, that the Field Marshal Seckendorff will pass the Danube at Dillingen, in order to join them. It is very certain, that General Berenclau might easily prevent this Junction, but that does not seem to be his Design. He is withdrawing his Forces to Friedbourg, in order to prevent the Enemy from entering Bavaria on that Side. We had this Moment certain Intelligence of his being joined by 6000 Croats, which will increase his Troops to 33,000 Men.

From the Camp of Prince Charles at Portuck, Sept. 29. His Royal Highness arrived the Day before Yesterday, in perfect Health, in the Army. Yesterday we encamped here, where we are to remain to Day; To-morrow we march to Nepomuck, where we shall be but two Marches from Count Bathiani. We hope to join the Saxons by the 5th, and our Army will then consist of 96,000 Men. There is no such thing as gaining any Intelligence of the Enemy's Motions; his Prussian Majesty having not only forbid all Officers in his Service writing any Thing on that Subject, but even prohibited their conversing upon it, under the severest Penalties; so that no-body dres talk of the next Day's March.

Dusseldorp, October 9. Our Auxiliaries are in full March for the Imperial Army, and it is supposed, will join it in the Camp before Ingoldstadt. An Express arrived this Morning, with Advice, that his Prussian Majesty was arrived within five Miles of Linz, and had begun to throw a Bridge over the Danube. General Count de Harfich was forbid to enter Vienna; and it is said, he is like to share the same Fate with General Dossat, in the Reign of the late Emperor. The Murrain that prevails among the Cattle in the Low Countries, is like to extend itself hither, notwithstanding all the Precautions that can be taken to prevent it. This must certainly create a dreadful Distress in Flanders, where such a Number of Troops are to have their Winter Quarters; because the eating of Beef must be prohibited, to prevent the Disease spreading amongst Men.

Hague, October 9. Count Saxe has not only abandon'd Pont d'Espieres, upon the Confederate Army's moving towards him, but has, it is said, done the same by Deynse, and even burnt his Magazines there.

Hague, October 13. By the last Letters from Dresden we learn, that the Saxon Troops entered on the 4th and 5th Inst. into Bohemia, to the Assistance of the Queen of Hungary.

The Villains thinking him too curious, several of them went out another Way, and seizing him, carried him into an empty House, and robb'd him of what Money he had about him; telling him, at the same time, that as he expected to see them hang'd, they would shew him the Way first, and accordingly tied him up; but one of their Gang coming in at that Instant, who knew the Gentleman, caus'd him to be cut down, and released him.
